

Field Organizer Job Description

Position Overview

The ACLU of Michigan seeks an innovative, organized, and dynamic individual to serve as a full-time Field Organizer. The Field Organizer is a newly-created position with responsibility for organizing and mobilizing a statewide infrastructure of advocates supportive of ACLU-MI issues and campaigns. Individuals with personal experience with the criminal justice system are strongly encouraged to apply.

The ACLU of Michigan is currently engaged in two campaigns. The Smart Justice campaign is a broad-based coalition working for common-sense justice reforms that enhance public safety, strengthen communities, eliminate racial disparity in the criminal justice system, and cut incarceration rates in half. The Voting Rights campaign is designed to expand citizen access to and participation in our democracy, with a particular emphasis on those communities who have been or are being disenfranchised. The Field Organizer will play a significant role in organizing and mobilizing ACLU activists, supporters, and volunteers to advance the priorities of each campaign.

This position will be based in Saginaw and although focused on the Saginaw community, the organizer will be responsible for regional and statewide organizing and mobilization.

The Field Organizer will be primarily responsible for building volunteer capacity within a sustained organizing program to help achieve the ACLU of Michigan's strategic objectives. The Field Organizer will work in close collaboration with other ACLU of Michigan communications, legal, organizing, and policy staff. This is an ideal opportunity for a talented organizing professional to have a significant impact on civil liberties, civil rights, and criminal justice reform in Michigan.
